AT&T WORKERS STRIKE

Several local AT&T workers and members of the Communication Workers of America Union on Tuesday protested what union representatives call "unfair labor practices."

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Several area AT&T workers and members of the Communication Workers of America Union on Tuesday were standing outside the AT&T field office located on St. Francis Street in Bay St. Louis protesting "unfair labor practices."

"This isn't about money," Local CWA 3519 President Glenn Posey said Tuesday. "It's about better benefits, a better working life, and providing customers with the best service."

The strike began Friday at 11 p.m. central time, Posey said. There are about 20,000 workers on strike, he said, from District 3 CWA.

The southeast region of the CWA encompasses Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama, Georgia, Florida, North Carolina, South Carolina, Kentucky, and Tennessee, Posey said.

The contract between CWA and AT&T ended in August, Posey said. "The last time we met at the table was Aug. 20," he said. "They sent someone who didn't have the authority to make a decision, accept what we offered, or counter-propose."

Posey said that there are about four field workers and 12 to 15 managers that declined to participate in the strike and they are handling the South Mississippi region.

Greg Taylor, a wireline technician, was on strike Tuesday in Bay St. Louis.

"Hopefully, they will send someone to the table that will actually bargain with us," Taylor said. "Hopefully AT&T will come to the table and give us a reason to stop."

Posey said that on Monday, AT&T sent authorized representatives to speak with representatives from the CWA, including District 3 CWA President Richard Honeycutt.

In an emailed statement, AT&T spokesperson Jim Kimberly said that "a strike is in no one's best interest."

"We remain steady to sit down with union leaders to negotiate a new improved contract for our

D'head hosts FY'20 budget hearing

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

Last week, the city of Diamondhead hosted a public hearing on the FY '20 budget.

Diamondhead City Manager Michael Reso said that the city's budget is a plan that projects and estimates revenues based on historical data, future needs of the city, and the goals that would best serve the city's residents.

Reso added that major expenditures included in the budget presentation will require council approval during a separate vote.

Reso said that his mission as city manager is to "create a city that people want to buy homes and open businesses."

Reso said that his focuses include public safety, amenities, commercial development, and providing public services in an efficient manner.

Reso said the FY '20 proposed total budgeted expenditures are about $8.2 million.

The revenues are projected to be about $6.8 million, he said, with a projected deficit of $1.4 million.

"Why the deficit?" Reso asked. "We are recommending a lot of other projects that are outside of just generic operations."

'THE VOICES OF KATRINA' Ground Zero Museum set to unveil new exhibit this Thursday

BY CASSANDRA FAVRE
STAFF WRITER

On Thursday, Aug. 29, the Ground Zero

Hurricane Museum in Waveland will not only commemorate the 14th anniversary of Hurricane Katrina, but also unveil its newest exhibit, "When Wind and Water Speak — the Voices of Katrina."

Each year, the museum hosts a service to remember "those lost and expressing appreciation to our first responders and acknowledging our resilience."

Museum board member Donna Martin said that many of the museum's visitors have said that they want to hear the stories from hurricane survivors.

"It's something the board of directors wanted to do for a long time," Martin said. "We are so excited and happy to be able to preview our new video on Thursday. Our plan all along was to show it on the anniversary of Katrina. We've met that goal."

The video was made possible by a grant from the Mississippi Heritage Foundation, Martin said. She also wrote the grant, which she said took months.

"We received notification of the grant award last

Last chance to 'cut up' with Louie Smolensky

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

This Saturday, Aug. 31, will mark the end of an era -- it's Louie Smolensky's Last Haircut for MDA, from 11 a.m.-4 p.m. at C&R Bar on Coleman Avenue in Waveland.

People have been "cutting up" with Smolensky all his life, but for the past 40 years, it has been for a good cause, the Muscular Dystrophy Association.

"Forty years, that's a long-time," Smolensky's friend and fellow MDA volunteer Alfred "Tiger" Harris said. "A lot of the people who get their hair cut now haven't even been around that long."

"It's been a good experience," Smolensky said this week. "I've learned a lot from it over the years, and I've met a lot of great people along the way."

Smolensky well-known on the Coast for many things, including serving several years as a Waveland alderman; the decades he spent selling cars for DeRussy motors and other dealerships; and the charitable work he performs with the Waveland Civic Association or American Legion Post 77. However, he's perhaps best known for his long, luxurious mane of silver-white hair, which he clips just once a year in order to raise money for children.

"I started fundraising for MDA in 1979," Smolensky said, "I started with Jimmy Lagasse and

Rusty Rail Tavern now open in Waveland

Longtime off-and-on bar in Waveland has a new owner and a reinvigorated vision for the establishment.

The Rusty Rail Tavern, located at 929 Sears Ave. near the intersection of South Central and Waveland avenues, reopened its doors this month under the new ownership of Tammy Jo Holley.

Holley said the Rusty Rail will be open seven days a week from 10 a.m. until at least midnight.

"We want to make it a friendly and welcoming environment to anyone who wants a beer or a drink," she said. "This bar belongs to the customers and I just set the rules. We want everybody to come check us out and see what we have to offer now."

Holley said the location has been a bar for decades operating under a variety of owners.

Her vision is offer quick-serve-style food such as pizzas and other appetizers by next month. She also expects to have their liquor license in place by early September. In the meantime, they offer domestic bottles of beer for $2.50, imports for $3 and glasses of wine for $3.50.

Additionally, patrons can bring their own bottle of liquor now and pay $5, with a nominal separate charge for set-ups.

"We want to have everything in place by the time the NFL season gets going," Holley said. "This will be a great place to come watch the Saints games. It's been that way for years."

Holley, who has worked as a bartender or bar manager in Hattiesburg for 25 years, is excited about her opportunity to own a bar now.

"It's been a fun project," she said. "We're going to try for music with bands on Fridays and some Saturdays. We also have pool tables and other typical bar fun."

Besides finding Holley behind the bar at the Rusty Rail, Dani Smith and Dawn Bernard will also be serving drinks.

"I've been successful for years in the bar industry," Holley said. "Now it's my turn as an owner."

Kiln man on trial for child molestation

BY GEOFF BELCHER
NEWS EDITOR

Trial proceedings began Monday in Hancock Circuit Court for a 70-year-old Kiln man accused of sexually abusing a 10-year-old girl multiple times over the course of more than a year. Hancock County sheriff's deputies arrested Alex Jackie Pearson in October 2016, charging him with 21 counts of sexual battery;

Alex J. Pearson

one count of touching a child for lustful purposes/molesting; and one count of contributing to the delinquency/neglect of a child.

The girl's mother apparently reported the case to the sheriff's office after finding a sex toy, which her daughter didn't want to speak about.

"It is so sensitive that we're reluctant to give out any details because they'd be so graphic," a sheriff's official said at the time. He said the abuse allegedly began when the girl was nine.

Deputies reportedly executed a search warrant and seized sex toys and electronics at Pearson's home.

Jury selection in the case began Monday before Circuit Judge Christopher L. Schmidt. Testimony began on Tuesday.

Court officials said the trial should wrap up this week.

MDOT urges preparedness on Hurricane Katrina anniversary

SEA COAST ECHO

As the 14th anniversary of Hurricane Katrina approaches, the Mississippi Department of Transportation reminds the public that now is the time to prepare for hurricane season.

Katrina surged through South Mississippi on August 29, 2005, unleashing more than $1 billion in damage to the state's transportation infrastructure. Within six hours of landfall, MDOT officials opened all structurally safe roadways to emergency response teams. Within 16 hours, all state-maintained highway lanes had been cleared and opened for the public to access. However, major reconstruction was necessary, including two bridges on U.S. Highway 90.

"MDOT is prepared for any tropical system," said Commissioner Tom King, Southern Transportation District. "Our first responders are always on standby for any emergency. We are stationed and prepared to immediately inspect roads and bridges and ready to clear debris to get highways open for other emergency responders."

Residents can also be prepared by having an evacuation plan in place before any tropical system threatens. To help you prepare, MDOT offers the 2019 Hurricane Evacuation Guide as an essential resource. View the guide along with a disaster-kit checklist and instructional videos on hurricane preparation at GoMDOT.com/hurricanes. Free copies are available to order at GoMDOT.com/maps.

The guide features information to assist in developing a preparedness plan such as evacuation routes, contraflow information, radio coverage areas through Mississippi Public Broadcasting and important contact information from the Mississippi Highway Patrol, American Red Cross, Mississippi Emergency Management Agency and bordering state DOTs and highway patrols.

"Katrina was a powerful blow to the Mississippi Gulf Coast," King said. "We remember those who were killed and the property that was lost in its surge. That's why it's vital to get out harm's way. You can always replace property, but you can't replace a life."

After Katrina, as communities pulled together, MDOT was there to help rebuild bigger and stronger. Read more about how far transportation infrastructure has come since the storm in Katrina+10: Bridging the Road to Renewal. The E-book is currently available at GoMDOT.com/katrina.

"We hope we never see another Katrina, but we are prepared if it happens," King said. "Now is an important time to remind South Mississippi residents to be prepared and have a plan together for the remainder of hurricane season."

Health Officials Report One New Human Case of West Nile Virus

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi State Department of Health (MSDH) reports one new human case of West Nile virus (WNV) for 2019, bringing the state total to seven this year. The new case was reported in Forrest County.

So far this year, human cases have been reported in Copiah, Forrest (2), Hinds, Lamar, Leake and Smith counties. In 2018, Mississippi had 50 WNV cases and no deaths.

Symptoms of WNV infection are often mild and may include fever, headache, nausea, vomiting, a rash, muscle weakness or swollen lymph nodes. In a small number of cases, infection can result in encephalitis or meningitis, which can lead to paralysis, coma and possibly death.

For more information on mosquito-borne illnesses, visit the MSDH website at HealthyMS.com/west-nile.

Finding
our voices

On the daily, as I think is the case with most people, I complete tasks that are outside of my comfort zone.

I consider myself more of an introvert, so when I have to get up in front of a crowd to take pictures, the anxiety will almost cripple me from doing so.

I've always been the shy and quiet type. Now, once I get to know people, I will talk, and talk, and talk.

A few months ago, local artist and board member for Waveland's Ground Zero Hurricane Museum Donna Martin asked me to participate in their newest venture, "When Wind and Water Speak — the Voices of Katrina."

Staff Column
By Cassandra Favre

At first, I didn't know what to say. I rode out Hurricane Katrina in Waveland with my family.

While it was certainly a defining moment in my life, I didn't feel like my story was, for lack of a better description, good enough to be included in such an important venture.

Mrs. Donna told me she felt differently and I decided to give it some thought.

I spoke about it with my family and friends and finally decided to participate.

It was a unique experience being on the other side of the table. I'm used to asking the questions, not being questioned, much less speaking on video about my experience.

I was 23 years old and had just graduated from Ole Miss in May 2005 when Katrina came ashore to wipe away my idealistic hopes and dreams of my future.

I think that day, I became the pessimist or realist that I am today.

When the day came for me to share my story on video, I was quite a nervous wreck and had to tell myself over and over, "try not to cry during the interview." Yeah, true to form, I cried.

One of the reasons why I initially felt myself backing away from the project was because I considered that my family was blessed during the storm.

Sure, we lost my childhood home, all of our possessions, and most of our hometown.

But, we had each other. None of my family or close friends perished. I know of people who lost loved ones in Katrina and I can't imagine the pain. I believed that their stories were more important.

However, the more I thought about it, the more I realized every single one of our stories is important. Whether people evacuated, rode out the storm, or waited patiently in another state for a phone call from their family members, each story conveys a different side of the storm that changed so many lives.

I think about the resiliency of the people who I grew up with here. It takes a lot of strength to pick up the pieces

Greenland Isn't a Trump 'Folly'

GUEST COLUMN
by Bob Franken

President Donald Trump has broached the idea of purchasing the massive and largely frozen island of Greenland from Denmark. Cue the laughter. My Montreal-raised wife tells me that in the nearly uninhabitable frozen tundra country of her youth, she and her Canadian friends grew up exclaiming, "It's as cold as Greenland!" But POTUS, evidently, was serious.

It's not a new idea. In 1946, the U.S. offered $100 million for Greenland, $1.3 billion in today's dollars, or 9 billion Danish Krone, give or take. A mere pittance, even if it's situated in the frigid Arctic wasteland.

Actually, it's because of its location that countries are so interested. There's a brutal competition going on between the U.S., Russia and China for dominance in that Godforsaken part of the world, what with all the natural resources buried in the permafrost, which is gradually turning to mud because of global warming. It's a strategic location, as evidenced by the American Thule Air Base, located 750 miles north of the Arctic Circle, in Greenland.

The island is an autonomous territory of Denmark, which immediately said it's not for sale.

The last comparable transaction occurred in 1867, when the U.S. purchased Alaska from Russia for $7.2 million; that's about 2 1/2 cents an acre. What a steal, although it was ridiculed at the time. How wrong the naysayers were.

In the case of both Alaska and Greenland, vast natural resources -- meaning oil -- are there for the taking, and for ravaging the planet with climate change, which is already threatening to turn both icy properties into tropical paradises.

But alas, Denmark is not interested.

What about renting? That has precedent, too. Guantanamo Bay comes to mind, which the United States leased from Cuba starting in 1903 and "in perpetuity." Every year, the U.S. sends a check for slightly more than $4,000. Every year, the Cuban government refuses to cash it. Cuba would love to terminate the deal, but the Americans maintain a naval air station there, to say nothing of a prison where terrorists have been held and tortured ... so there's a sentimental attachment.

Cuba is grouching about Gitmo, and the Danish are uninterested in selling Greenland. What is a superpower to do about the need to expand -- other than occupation or questionable alliances? Happily, you have come to the right place. Here's the answer:

How about taking a page out of the sports book and do trades? If we want Greenland, we can offer Denmark, say, Texas and a couple of properties from the minor leagues, which in the Trump lexicon are called "shholes." That's fair. Texas would certainly be a good fit for the Danish government. Lone Star State tradition and Danish socialism would be so complementary, like Hong Kong and China.

Is that a great idea or what? If Texas were traded for Greenland, it would give new life to Shakespeare's line "Something is rotten in the state of Denmark." Of course, the residents of Greenland, all 56,000 of them, might not be too happy. They would have to get accustomed to inferior health care and fewer social services, but they'd adjust.

We can waste time with bad attitudes or we can be creative. Let's face it, President Trump had a decent idea. And that wasn't even fake news.

Bob Franken is an Emmy Award-winning reporter who covered Washington for more than 20 years with CNN.

We need more protections in place and better access to mental health facilities

To whom it may concern (and it concerns all of us),

The violence in the workplace, church and school is escalating. Once upon a time, we would see on TV about some bombing or shooting in New York or Chicago and think, 'How terrible, but what can you expect in a big city with all that crime?'

Wake up, folks! That crime, that hate, that mental instability is here!

Yes, schools, workplaces and even churches are implementing procedures, but is it enough?

Keep safe this Labor Day weekend

SEA COAST ECHO

Labor Day marks the end of summer for many. While making plans to celebrate, remember to keep safe driving a top priority. The Mississippi Department of Transportation's (MDOT) main goal is to keep the traveling public safe by monitoring the state's highways to encourage safe travel.

"With Labor Day weekend being one of the busiest weekends on the road, we urge motorists to take extra precautions, so that everyone makes it safely to their destination," said Melinda McGrath, P.E., MDOT executive director.

Highway traffic will increase on Labor Day weekend as many families from all over the state travel for the final event of the summer. MDOT offers these tips to help motorists stay safe this Labor Day weekend.

- Buckle up and make sure your passengers do as well.
- Make sure all children are in safety seats appropriate for their size.
- Don't drink and drive. Always plan a designated driver when needed.
- Allow enough time for travel to avoid excessive speed and observe speed limits.
- Eliminate distracted driving activities such as eating or cell phone usage.
- Let someone know your destination, your route and when you expect to arrive.
- Stay safe and make memories while celebrating this weekend," McGrath said.

"Take advantage of the state's useful travel resources to make your trip safer and more enjoyable.

If you're traveling this holiday weekend, know before you go. Download the MDOT Traffic App to access real-time traffic information. For additional travel tips or other travel related information, visit MDOTtraffic.com or like and follow @MississippiDOT on Facebook and Twitter.

This current year, Reso said, the city is undergoing a slab removal program. There was $100,000 budgeted for the program, but the city delayed the program by about 90 days.

"So we're going to end up having to push that into next year's, when we're actually spending the money doing the project," he said.

There's $900,000, which won't be spent this year, for street paving, Reso said.

Reso said there is a $125,000 line item for the city's 25-year comprehensive plan.

He added that there are repairs related to moisture problems that need to be completed on the bottom floor of city hall. There is $30,000 budgeted for that item.

There is $25,000 budgeted for a parking lot for the police department, Reso said.

There is $15,000 budgeted for repairs related to leakage in the chapel room.

Reso said the city is also looking at creating more ADA access in the parking lot at city hall. $60,000 is budgeted for that endeavor.

The projected cash balance is about $4.3 million, Reso said, to start the year.

"Once we go through the year and spend out, we should have about $2.9 million in cash ending the year," Reso said.

There are two contingency funds set up, each with about a $1 million, he said.

At the end of FY '20, the city will have an unrestricted ending cash balance of $798,510, Reso said.

Reso said the proposed millage rate is 34 mills, which has remained the same for the past few years.

"Our estimated total assessed valuation by Jimmy Ladner's office is $106 million, versus 104 for the previous year," Reso said. "One mill will generate $94,000 for next year's budget, which is a slight increase. We were at $90,000 last year. That's all good and it's based on growth that's happening in our community."

Reso said that sales tax projections are about $653,000.

Of the total revenues, unrestricted funds total about $4.9 million, Reso said. Grant funds, which are restricted use, totals about $1.1 million, he said.

The solid waste line item totals $659,109, the fire department fund totals $521 and the MS Infrastructure Modification Fund totals $20,000.

Reso also broke down what the grant revenues are being used for: The Montjoy Creek Multi-Modal Path ($80,000); Commercial Area Connectivity Study ($60,000); and the East Aloha widening ($136,000 MDOT project).

The grants also include 20 percent matching funds, Reso said. The Tidelands funds are 100 percent funded with a zero local match. Those projects include the $325,000 Devil's Elbow dredging project; the $288,000 Montjoy Creek improvements; and the $250,000 public access to Montjoy Creek.

Reso said there are no new budgeted staff positions, but he said there is a proposed two percent increase "across the board for all salaries."

The total budget for the council and mayor totals $61,000 and the proposed budget includes an annual salary increase for the mayor from $12,000 to $15,000, Reso said, and a council member increase from $2,400 to $5,000.

The budget includes a proposed $5,000 salary increase for the city clerk since she completed her degree this year, Reso said.

The proposed administration budget is $1.3 million. The proposed legislative budget is $61,827 and the proposed judicial budget is $187,373.

Since July 2012, the city has had an interlocal agreement with the Hancock County Sheriff's Office to provide personnel for the city's police department, Reso said.

"The city is responsible for providing all equipment and the sheriff's office provides the officers," Reso said.

So far this year, officers have responded to about 6,901 calls, he added.

The officers also provide house checks when residents are away, business checks at night, fingerprinting services, and welfare checks. The police department proposed budget is $976,461, which includes 12 contracted officers through the interlocal agreement (one captain, one investigator, and 10 officers).

The building planning and zoning proposed budget is $375,097, Reso said.

So far this year, the building department has issued 908 building permits (of that is 54 new homes); completed more than 1,500 inspections and found 324 code violations.

The public works proposed budget is $3.1 million, Reso said.

The budget for economic development is $62,412, he said.

City-sponsored annual events include: The Blessing of the Classics; Town Green Christmas Celebration; and National Night Out.

Reso said he will be asking the council for new city-sponsored events, a BBQ cookoff event and a kayak event.

Reso named the various organizations that the city also contributes to monetarily:

- $500 to American Red Cross
- $6,100 to CASA
- $500 to the sheriff's youth camp
- $30,000 to the library
- $2,000 to the Hancock Resource Center
- $1,000 to Hancock Tourism
- $9,600 to the Diamondhead SPCA

The total of the city's debt service payment for FY '20 $174,354, Reso said.

Reso said that something new for the city to watch for is the Mississippi Infrastructure Modernization Act of 2018.

"This is the Internet sales tax proceeds that will be distributed to the cities based on population and your prior year sales tax revenue," Reso said. "The purpose of that is to help cities repair, maintain, or construct roads, bridges, streets, as well as improving water and sewage infrastructure. Funds will be distributed to cities in January and July annually. Every city in the state is guaranteed to get a minimum of $20,000 annually from that bucket. Over time, it is projected that our city will be receiving an estimated $175,000 annually from this new source of revenue."

Reso also mentioned some accomplishments for FY '19:

- The interstate lighting
- Completed renovations to city hall to accommodate the police department
- Purchased body cameras for police officers
- Purchased license plate readers for the police department
- Updated the GIS engineering

Drainage projects

Upcoming projects for FY '20 include:

- Road paving
- East Aloha Drive improvements
- Land acquisition for drainage lots and permanent green space and future roads
- Montjoy Creek erosion project
- Montjoy Creek nature trail and public access
- The 25-year Comprehensive Plan

No one spoke about the budget during public comments.

The next regular meeting is scheduled for Sept. 3 at 6 p.m.

"NOTICE OF A PUBLIC HEARING ON THE PROPOSED BUDGET AND PROPOSED TAX LEVIES FOR THE UPCOMING FISCAL YEAR FOR THE CITY OF WAVELAND

The City of Waveland will hold a public hearing on its proposed budget and proposed tax levies for fiscal year ending September 30, 2020 on Wednesday September 3, 2019 at 6 p.m., Waveland City Hall Board Room 301 Coleman Avenue, Waveland MS.

Any citizen of the City of Waveland is invited to attend this public hearing on the proposed budget and tax levies for fiscal year ending September 30, 2020 and will be allowed to speak for a reasonable amount of time and offer tangible evidence before vote is taken.

and rebuild when it seems the odds are stacked against you.

That's the real story, it's not about pictures of the destruction or what has or hasn't been rebuilt yet.

It's about waking up the next day after your corner of the world is wiped away and helping your neighbor.

My Uncle Jess and Aunt Tasha gave my parents and me a place to live after the storm. There are so many stories like that and that's what needs to be remembered.

Sure, it's nice to see how much has been rebuilt. But that's the thing, buildings can be rebuilt, roads can be fixed, and bridges can be built better than ever before.

The lives we lost during Katrina cannot be brought back. But we remember and honor their memories every year.

In hindsight, even though I'm terribly nervous about this Thursday's unveiling of the video at the Ground Zero Museum, I think the project is a great one and I'm glad I participated.

The museum is a powerful testament to the people of this community, our resilience, and our love for helping each other out in times of need.

John was a gentle soul with a tough exterior, fiercely protective, hardworking and creative in his work, and caring almost to a fault. John had an undeniably contagious energy and was consistently moved and affected by the world and people around him. Apart from the love he felt for his small circle of friends and family, John's most lasting legacy is the love and dedication he had for culinary arts and for the process of sharing that love through the food that he cooked. Days before John died, he had been excitedly work-shopping recipes for boiled peanuts, actively making plans to start a booth at the Hancock County Farmers' market, and was hoping to create and cook more that he could share with the community. John had been making hopeful plans for the future. John died from an accidental overdose. He had struggled with addiction for many years of his life. His battle with addiction proved to be too much for him to overcome, but his legacy of love and passion for life is one that persists beyond his time on earth. "I think we got a good representation of people from Bay St. Louis and Waveland," Martin said.

There are a total of seven participants who share their stories in the new exhibit, she added. The grant funding not only paid for the video, but will also cover the costs for a separate viewing room with space for guests to sit and view the video.

The plan is for the reading room to be converted into the Katrina Room, Martin said. It is expected to be operational by the end of the year, she added.

Viewings of the video will be allowed upon special request until the room is finished, she said.

the Waveland Civic Association. Before, I just raised money with the WCA, answering phones, running around and getting donations during the Labor Day telethons. Then I had to do something new."

One day while hanging out at the lounge at the old Holiday Inn (at the corner of Hwy. 90 and Hwy. 603), Louie asked bar patrons for ideas for a new fundraiser. "Apropos of nothing, he said, Marlin Torgeson said, 'Hey, Louie! Why don't you get a hair cut?'"

And a fundraiser was born. For the next few decades, Louie and a handful of others started getting their heads shaved every Labor Day weekend.

Patrons bid money for each volunteer to get his or her head shaved, along with beards, eyebrows, etc. Sometimes the bidding gets fierce. Sometimes the patrons end up getting convinced to shave their heads, too.

"It's all for a good time and a great cause," Smolensky said.

Part of the "good time" will include barbecue chicken or pulled pork sandwich plates, C&R owner Nadine Brown said. Plates will be $10 each and include two sides, either potato salad or coleslaw or baked beans and mac & cheese. You can eat in or carry out. Proceeds will go to the MDA.

There will also be raffles and a silent auction.

employees," Kimberly said. "Our bargaining team is negotiating with CWA leaders in the same way we have successfully done with other CWA contracts over the years. We listen, engage in substantive discussions and share proposals back and forth until we reach agreement. That's why we're surprised and disappointed that union leaders would call for a strike at this point in the negotiations, particularly when we're offering terms that would help our employees – some of whom average from $121,000 to $134,000 in total compensation – be even better off."

Kimberly said that AT&T has reached "20 fair agreements since 2017 covering more than 89,000 employees."

He added that fewer than eight percent of

AT&T's employees are covered under the Southeast contract.

All area teams taste victory on opening night

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

For the first time in recent memory, all area high school football teams tasted victory to open the gridiron season.

The Bay High Tigers ushered in the Eric Collins' era with a 42-30 victory over West Harrison on the road while Pass Christian dispatched the Long Beach Bearcats 42-27 at home.

The Hancock Hawks came from behind against Pearl River Central to claim a 28-17 win and the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws smothered the Bruins of Saint Joseph of Madison 46-0, with both wins coming at home.

The Tigers (1-0) wasted little time showing what their offensive approach is for the season which is a ground game and ball control offense.

Noah Cutter rushed 12 times for 112 yards and three touchdowns while Sam Sheppard added 88 yards on eight carries and a touchdown. Josh Peters added a rushing touchdown while also completing 5-of-7 passing for 98 yards and a pick.

On defense, Zach West led the charge with 10 tackles followed by Cutter with nine stops and a 45-yard scoop-and-score. Carson Moran also came up with an interception.

This Friday the Tigers host the Purvis Tornadoes who fell to West Marion last Friday evening 34-0.

The Tornadoes did not show anything of any substance on offense with their leading rusher being the quarterback Hunter Robinson. He ran six times for 17 yards and made one completion for 12 yards.

On defense, Purvis was paced by Eli Barrett with nine tackles.

If the same Tiger team shows up this week that ran over West Harrison, the wind will be taken out of the Tornadoes quickly. It looks as though Bay High runs away with this one.

The Hancock Hawks (1-0) had to dig deep and come from behind to thwart the Blue Devils last Friday evening. In fact, Hancock needed PRC to cough the ball up three times late in the game for the difference after the Blue Devils enjoyed an early 17-7 lead.

Hancock received hard running from Sebastian Fausett totaling 19 carries for 160 yards and a touchdown. They also got a dual performance from transfer quarterback Sema'J Robertson who was 6-for-13 passing for 80 yards, a touchdown and two picks and rushed for 95 yards and a score on seven carries. Jordan Zulli caught three passes for 63 yards and a touchdown.

This week the Hawks hit the road to take on Meridian (1-0) who also had to come from three scores down last week to beat Northeast Lauderdale 22-18.

Meridian and Northeast Lauderdale had not met in 11 years on the field and Northeast Lauderdale jumped out to a 18-0 lead before Meridian roared back.

Daniel Hill rushed for 99 yards and a touchdown on seven carries while KeXavius Burton added 75 yards and a touchdown on 14 carries.

This contest should be a war on the ground between two teams who appear to control games better coming from behind after one week of play. Meridian has been the downfall of Coast 6A squads in the playoffs for the past several years. This outcome rests on the shoulders of the Hawk defense's ability to limit the Meridian offense or it could be a long night on the road back home.

The Pass Christian Pirates (1-0) rode the arm and legs of senior quarterback Dustin Allison who torched the Long Beach Bearcats (0-1) throwing for 310 yards and five touchdowns on 14-for-20 passing with one interception. He added 54 yards rushing on 11 carries.

Kameron White caught eight passes for 171 yards and two touchdowns while Dylan Necaize two passes for 38 yards and two touchdowns. Andrew Moffett had three catches for 76 yards and a touchdown.

White also added 78 kickoff return yards and 48 punt return yards to end the night with 297 all-purpose yards.

The Pirates hit the road this Friday evening to Brooklyn to take on the Aggies of Forrest County AHS.

Last week the Aggies beat Perry Central 33-6. Not much is available on the Aggies' offense but Evan Clark paced the Aggies defense with 13 tackles including 1.5 sacks. The Pirates will continue to feed Allison the ball and let him be a dual threat. If the Aggie defense does not respect his running and passing, Brooklyn will be a treasure chest for Pass Christian.

The St. Stanislaus Rock-a-chaws (1-0) smothered the Bruins of St. Joseph in every aspect of the game. Max Favre found his mark throwing for 152 yards and two touchdowns in the game. Both of his scoring aerials were to Lee Negrotto who caught four passes for 73 yards.

Brandon Bordelon had three carries for 49 yards and a score while Chris Smith added 63 yards on nine carries and a touchdown. Freshman Kyle Stegall rushed for 45 yards and two scores.

On defense, Negrotto led the way with six tackles all for a loss. SSC intercepted the Bruins four times by Davien Lagarde, Trustin Northington, Nicholas Quintini and Gene Hoffman. Lagarde's picknwas returned 22 yards for a score.

This week the Rocks are back 'between the walls' hosting Long Beach who fell to Pass Christian last week.

If the Rocks are able to have the success that Pass Christian had against Long Beach on offense, this game will be a runaway in favor of the home team.

All games are set for a 7pm kickoff. See you at the game!

Hancock makes finals of Kickoff Classic at OLA

BY JOSEPH W. GEX, II
STAFF WRITER

The Hancock Lady Hawks advanced to the finals of the Gulf Coast Kickoff Classic on Saturday with an inspiring win over the home-standing OLA Crescents in three games.

Hancock head coach Lynsie Byrd Gayden commented, "The girls played with so much heart this weekend. They left it all on the court. They all had great attitudes and we are excited to see where we will go this season."

The Lady Hawks (6-7) were led by Reagan Huff who tallied 51 kills, 15 aces and 52 digs during the tournament followed by Alexa Palmer with 29 kills, Kacey Lear 65 digs, Jacey Garriga 52 assists, Peyton Russell 10 solo blocks, Alex Fausett nine aces and Klair Cuevas with 39 assists.

Hancock fell to Vancleave in the finals 25-17, 25-12. The Lady Hawks defeated Ocean Springs (16-25, 25-16, 15-9) and East Central (25-17, 25-17). They fell to Vancleave (25-22, 11-25, 9-15) and Oak Grove (23-25, 25-22, 16-18).

OLA head coach Mike Meyers talked about the tournament, "We had another great tournament today. Each year the level of play gets better and better. We want to congratulate Vancleave on winning the championship and Hancock for a well played tournament. We played well at times but we just didn't have a consistent effort. Today, in the semis, we waited until after we lost the first set to really look like we were giving our best effort. We are off to a great start for the season but we must be ready to play our hardest from the first whistle to the last whistle."

OLA (11-2) was led in the tournament by Rebecca Walk with 12 aces, 29 points, 89 kills, eight blocks and 48 digs followed by Ashley Bulot with 10 aces, 32 points, 10 kills, 67 assists and 16 digs. Camille Cottone finished with 14 aces, 40 pts, 29 kills, two blocks, and 40 digs. Alma Hearin had 28 digs and Chloe Cornell had 11 pts, 13 kills, and 32 digs. Kate Funk had five aces, 16 pts, and 52 assists.

OLA defeated Petal (25-10, 25-10), Bay High (25-23, 25-12), Biloxi (25-17, 25-22), and Gulfport (25-14, 25-16). Hancock defeated OLA in the semi-finals 25-20, 11-25, and 20-18.

Bay High dropped their games to OLA (12-25, 23-25), Gulfport (17-25, 19-25), Petal (10-25, 20-25), and Long Beach (22-25, 17-25).

In action last week, the Bay High Lady Tigers swept the Lady Maroon Tide of Picayune in high school volleyball action on Thursday evening 25-17, 25-14 and 25-23.

The victory was the first of the season for the Lady Tigers (1-3) in 2019.

Bay High was led by Lizzie Weems with nine kills and seven aces followed by Domonique Coles with four kills, Olivia Signiagio with six kills and Jadyn Sheppard with six aces and two kills.

On Tuesday evening, the Lady Tigers fell to Long Beach in four games.

The Lady Tigers claimed the first game 25-18 on strong net play by Weems. However, in the next three successive games the Lady Tigers allowed Long Beach to dictate the flow of the game. Long Beach beat Bay High 16-25, 14-25 and 14-25.

Bay High head coach Kellie Gunn stated, "We had an unfortunate injury to one of our setters and we are still working on moving the offense with one setter. We played solid the first game but allowed Long Beach to dictate our reaction in the next three games."

Against Long Beach, Weems tallied 13 kills, two aces and two blocks followed by Coles with two kills and Signiagio with three kills.

The Hancock Lady Hawks did not play last week.

The Crescents tallied victories over Petal and Ocean Springs this past week.

On Tuesday, OLA topped Petal 25-17, 25-15 and 25-13.

The Crescents were paced by Rebecca Walk with 17 kills, nine points, four aces and five blocks while Ashley Bulot had 11 points, 15 assists and four aces. Camille Cottone added 10 points, five aces and seven kills while Alma Hearin had eight points, four aces and eight digs. Chloe Cornell chipped in eight points, five aces and 12 digs while Kate Funk added 13 assists.

On Thursday, the Crescents defeated Ocean Springs 25-19, 18-25, 25-23, and 25-16.

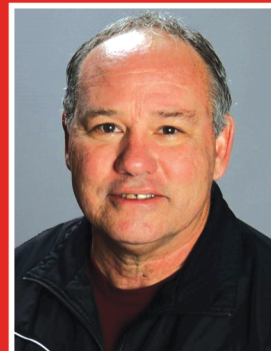

The Crescents were led by Walk with 24 kills followed by Bulot with 24 assists and six kills. Cottone added 12 kills and 11 digs while Cornell had nine kills and 14 digs. Funk chipped in 16 points, 20 assists and six aces.

Booker Fest begins this Friday at 100 Men Hall

SEA COAST ECHO

The 100 Men Hall launches its first annual Booker Fest to celebrate the musical genius of James Booker. Booker Fest starts Friday, August 30, 2019 at 8 p.m. and ends on Saturday, August 31, 2019 at midnight.

The festival features a rollicking good-time itinerary that allows festival-goers to enjoy the Hall as well as Bay Saint Louis. A very limited amount of lucky campers will be allowed to pitch a tent onsite!

Booker Fest is designed to bring awareness to one of town's most gifted artists - James Carroll Booker III (December 17, 1939 - November 8, 1983), who was raised by his aunt in Bay Saint Louis. Booker played with the St. Rose de Lima gospel choir and on the historic stage at the 100 Men Hall. Booker Fest will include a gospel tribute by the esteemed St. Rose de Lima choir and a piano tribute by two of New Orleans greatest pianists, Tom McDermott and Josh Paxton, a screening of Lily Keber's acclaimed documentary on Booker, Bayou Maharajah, as well as reflections on Booker by Ellis Anderson of Shoofly Magazine, ending with a hip-shaking dance party headlined by Cuban percussionist Alexey Martí with Jorge Perez, Paolo Castanogli and Oscar Rossignoli.

The Fest is intended as an annual fundraiser for the maintenance and preservation of the 100 Men Hall and also to attract regional, national and international attention to this African American landmark, one of the few standing buildings on the Mississippi Blues Trail. The event will happen Labor Day weekend and allows primitive camping for the first time in the historic district of Bay Saint Louis at 100 Men Hall.

HTCS hosts 6th grade retreat

SEA COAST ECHO

On Aug. 9, 6th grade students at Holy Trinity and their parents attended a retreat at Our Lady of the Gulf Catholic Church.

The day began with a teaching mass celebrated by Father Braxton Neccaise. Students and parents were able to learn about the prayers said as the priest prepares and vests prior to mass; the meaning behind the parts of the mass; as well as, the names of the different vessels/objects used during mass.

Following the mass, Father Mike spent time with parents, while Father Braxton spoke to students as everyone discussed and reflected on this year's 6th grade theme, FAMILY, and their roles within the family. Mrs. Lori Alderman, mother of Ambrie Alderman, attended the retreat and commented that it was very enjoyable, as well as informative and educational. What meant the most to her was the reminder that our children are not our own: They are God's children. She felt that it is a HUGE responsibility and a beautiful vocation we have as parents.

The Knights of Columbus provided lunch and the afternoon was filled with prayer, reflection, and sharing. Students and parents had a wonderful time learning more about their faith, praying together and for each other, and strengthening their family bonds.

James Booker was born James Carroll Booker III on December 17, 1939, in New Orleans, and was influenced by his church and Baptist minister parents and grandparents, who played piano. Booker was a child prodigy who loved classical music (especially Bach) and part of his amazing skill lay in an ability to blend a Rachmaninoff tune with a rolling blues piano riff. After his father became ill during Booker's early childhood, he and his sister Betty Jean were sent to live with his aunt in Bay St. Louis, Mississippi.

Directed by Lily Keber, Bayou Maharajah chronicles the life and music of this colorful, troubled figure, legendary in New Orleans but obscure elsewhere. The film features extensive performance and interview footage of Booker, who died in 1983 at age 44. "I've got some blues that contains old soul with new wrinkles," the pianist says in a clip featured in the trailer, perhaps referencing the way his style seamlessly incorporated classical, jazz and gospel. St. Rose de Lima Gospel Choir - Considered the best Southern Gospel choir in the region, the St. Rose choir was already a Bay Saint Louis institution when James Booker played there. Several members sang when Booker played in the choir. The choir has been featured in the gospel tent at the New Orleans Jazz & Heritage Festival Tom McDermott - Larry Blumenfeld of the Wall Street Journal writes, "The relaxed feel of Mr. McDermott's playing sometimes conceals the boldness of his harmonic decisions and the rigor of his approach, which leans on diligent musicology. His playing and his original compositions draw from deep repertoire (he can play Louis Moreau Gottschalk's mid-19th-century works with aplomb) and flash the same offbeat wit as the limericks and pencil drawings he publishes in small volumes."

Josh Paxton - In a city known for its piano players, Josh Paxton stands out from the crowd. By combining New Orleans' deep piano traditions with modern jazz twists, classical technique, and a funky rhythmic drive, he creates a unique and memorable style that led Dr. John to describe him as "[freakin'] blessed."

Josh moved from his native Ohio to New Orleans in his early 20s to study with jazz patriarch Ellis Marsalis. After earning his degree he quickly found himself in demand as a solo performer and sideman, playing solo sets at festivals in and out of town, and touring and recording with such diverse acts as the Wild Magnolias, Li'l Queenie, the Cosmic Krewe, Maria Muldaur, and Bruce Hornsby. And by doing the first written transcriptions of the music of piano legends Professor Longhair and James Booker, he solidified his reputation as a serious scholar of the city's musical heritage.

Alexey Martí - Martí was born in Havana, Cuba and started playing congas in the home of his grandparents during Santería religious ceremonies and soon began studying percussion under the legendary Oscar Valdés, a former member of the Cuban supergroup Irakere, and one of the first to incorporate the traditional batá drums into modern Cuban jazz. He will be on the historic 100 Men Hall stage with all stars, Jorge Perez, Paolo Castanogli and Oscar Rossignoli.

Food for purchase by Chef Chris Hayes of The Smoking Oyster. Chef Chris is a Food Network star. After obtaining his culinary degree, Chef Chris worked at various restaurants and casinos, before relocating to New Orleans. Earlier this year, Chef Chris was named the winning contestant on Food Network's Cooks vs Cons. His recipes are featured in Louisiana Cooking Magazine and Road Tours Magazine.

Avoid the feared ‘freshman 15’

EVELYN PHILLIPS
MSU EXTENSION SERVICE

STARKVILLE, MISS. -- Incoming college freshman think of almost every possible new experience they could encounter in their new world; however, some neglect the dreaded “freshman 15.” Janet Jolley, a Mississippi State University Extension Service agent in Marshall County, said research shows that 25% of college freshman will gain 5% of their body weight during the first semester. To develop a healthy lifestyle and avoid unwanted weight gain, students should take time to rest the mind and body from the stress of day-to-day activities, Jolley said. Eating well and working out regularly also helps. New college students tend to leave their familiar routines and create new schedules, which can lead to unwanted weight gain unless they establish guidelines. “A lot of incoming freshman think that they can still eat the same way they have been,” Jolley warned. “Their dietary habits can change in college because they eat at restaurants more, they do not exercise as much, and their activity level drops.” According to Jolley, sleep plays an important part in weight loss and gain. “The human body needs time to recover from the stress of a new environment,” Jolley said. “Having a good sleep schedule assists with weight loss, improves memory, reduces stress and keeps the heart healthy.” New college students have to transition from their familiar activities to new schedules they make on their own. Failing to create a supportable sleeping and eating schedule is the beginning of unwanted weight gain. “College students normally do not get enough sleep, skip breakfast, don’t exercise as they should and don’t eat enough fruits and vegetables,” Jolley said. “They suddenly do not have a parent who may have been cooking meals or kept them eating at a certain time each day.” Students need to be actively conscious of what kinds of foods they eat. This awareness includes reading labels and knowing what each percentage means. Jolley said there is always a benefit to cooking and eating at home rather than going out. The home cook controls the amounts of salts, sugars and fats. “However, most college students cook convenient foods, which could be loaded with added sugars, salts and fats. So, eating at restaurants could be healthy if they make wise choices,” said Jolley. Jolley also recommended drinking water frequently and carrying a water bottle. “Water keeps us hydrated, lubricates joints, can assist with weight loss, prevents kidney damage and boosts performance during exercise,” Jolley said. “If consumed before eating, water can make you feel fuller so you practice portion control.” Scott County Extension coordinator Anita Webb said eating on a schedule helps avoid the freshman 15. “A typical diet of an 18- or 19-year-old should be on a hard and fast schedule if he or she is wanting to avoid the freshman 15,” Webb said. She also placed a strong emphasis on eating breakfast every morning. “It does not really matter what they eat in the morning, as long as they eat something to make themselves fuller for the day,” Webb said. When deciding on what to eat for lunch and dinner, students have to actively decide whether they want a cheeseburger or a salad and grilled chicken. Webb said students should always eat more vegetables when given the option. “Some healthy snack options include almonds, celery and carrot sticks with peanut butter, banana or apple with peanut butter, trail mix, pretzels and hummus, yogurt, string cheese, low-fat popcorn or frozen grapes,” Webb said. “And keep water cold and available!” Webb also warned about hidden fats like butter, bread, sauces, gravy, fried foods and pastries. Despite the fear of gaining unwanted weight in the first few weeks of college, there are steps anyone can take to stay healthy. Students should create a routine and stick to it while making conscious decisions to better their health every day.

Eating breakfast, including healthy choices such as a bowl of fresh fruit, has been shown to decrease appetite, resulting in eating less at later meals, as well as increasing memory during the day.

These grants and programs are made possible by generous donors, said UWSM CEO Kathy Springer. “Our communities support us in amazing ways, from individual and corporate gifts to buying tickets for the Nifty 50 raffle,” she said. “Without that support, we wouldn’t be able to offer any of our grants or programs.” =To learn more or to purchase tickets, call (228) 896-2213, click here or stop by the UWSM office at the Knight Nonprofit Center, 11975 Seaway Road, Suite B-170, Gulfport.

Research reveals that people are more absorbed and attentive when they read newspaper content.

No matter how The Sea Coast Echo® captures a reader's attention, we are remarkably successful at keeping it. An NRS survey says newspaper readers are more relaxed than TV viewers and radio listeners and less likely to be multi-screening. In fact, the 36 million who pick up a paper spend over an hour reading and don't multi-screen at all. Nothing works like The Echo works.

NOTICE AND PUBLIC EXPLANATION OF A PROPOSED ACTIVITY IN THE 100-YEAR FLOODPLAIN

To: All Interested Agencies, Groups, and Individuals

SUBJECT: Notice of intent to take action within the 100-year floodplain
This document gives notice that the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is proposing to conduct activities within the 100-year floodplain, as identified on Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs) for Hancock County, to facilitate the Stennis International Airport Hangar Facility Completion Project. The purpose of the proposed activity is to provide construction of an airport hangar facility and other associated amenities for the Stennis International Airport in Kiln, Hancock County, Mississippi. It is located on the east side of Fred and Al Key Road, south of Texas Flat Road, east of Mississippi Highway 603, and south of the Jordan River.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is requesting the use of U.S. Department of the Treasury Resources and Ecosystems Sustainability, Tourist Opportunities, and Revived Economies (RESTORE) Act entitlement funding for the referenced project. In deciding whether to fund the proposed project, U.S. Department of the Treasury is obligated to follow requirements set forth by Section 2(a)(4) of Executive Order 11988 for Floodplain Management. This Notice of Proposed Intent is being provided in fulfillment of the aforementioned Executive Order. The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has conducted an evaluation as required by Executive Order 11988 to determine the potential effect that its activity in the floodplain will have on the environment.

The proposed activity is intended to occur in Kiln, Hancock County, Mississippi, within the 100-year floodplain as determined from Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) Community Panel 28045C0392D (dated October 16, 2009). Activities at that area would have minimal impacts on the floodplain beyond those that currently exist. The proposed hangar facility would be constructed above the base flood level in accordance with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) FIRM using solid fill.

In response to the requirement for evaluating alternatives to building/mitigating projects in the floodplain (24 CFR 58.40(e), Ref. 40 CFR 1508.9), the alternatives considered included relocating the proposed activity to an alternate site and no action.

Alternate Site Alternative
Alternative site locations were not practicable because the objective of the project is to provide an additional hangar structure adjacent to the Stennis International Airport Terminal Building, which would be constructed at the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. Stennis International Airport is a military airport in Kiln, Mississippi and serves as a training facility and international connection for military operations. Approximately 0.16% of the total area of Kiln is located within the 100-year floodplain, and all of the waterfront areas are in the 100-year floodplain. The current adjacent hangar (Hangar "A") is no longer adequate for the increasing volume of air traffic accessing the Stennis International Airport. Therefore, the alternate site alternative was rejected.

No Action Alternative
The adoption of the No Action alternative is a decision not to provide a hangar facility and other associated amenities for the Stennis International Airport Hangar Facility Completion project, thereby languishing the growing need for military operations at the airport.

Proposed Action Alternative
The objective of the project is to provide construction of an airport hangar facility and other associated amenities for the Stennis International Airport Hangar Facility Completion Project, which would be constructed at Stennis International Airport on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. This notice is being submitted to the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, Federal Emergency Management Agency, US Army Corps of Engineers, US Environmental Protection Agency and Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality. Members of the public are invited to submit comments on the proposed activity. Additional information on the proposed activity is available to the public between the hours of 8:00 am and 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday at the following location:

NOTICE AND PUBLIC EXPLANATION OF A PROPOSED ACTIVITY IN THE 100-YEAR FLOODPLAIN

To: All Interested Agencies, Groups, and Individuals

SUBJECT: Notice of intent to take action within the 100-year floodplain
This document gives notice that the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is proposing to conduct activities within the 100-year floodplain, as identified on Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs) for Hancock County, to facilitate the Port Bienville Industrial Park (PBIP) Methanol Facility, Rail Line Extension, and Dock Installation Project. The purpose of the proposed activity is to provide construction of a methanol facility, rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for PBIP. The project site is located at PBIP in Pearllington, Hancock County, Mississippi. It is located approximately 1.34 miles south-southeast of Chef Menteur Highway (U.S. Highway 90), north of Port and Harbor Drive and west of Road G. The Port Bienville Industrial Canal is adjacent to the north of the project site.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is requesting the use of U.S. Department of the Treasury Resources and Ecosystems Sustainability, Tourist Opportunities, and Revived Economies (RESTORE) Act entitlement funding for the referenced project. In deciding whether to fund the proposed project, U.S. Department of the Treasury is obligated to follow requirements set forth by Section 2(a)(4) of Executive Order 11988 for Floodplain Management. This Notice of Proposed Intent is being provided in fulfillment of the aforementioned Executive Order. The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission has conducted an evaluation as required by Executive Order 11988 to determine the potential effect that its activity in the floodplain will have on the environment.

The proposed activity is intended to occur in Pearllington, Hancock County, Mississippi, within the 100-year floodplain as determined from Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) Community Panels 28045C0402D and 28045C0406D (dated October 16, 2009). Activities at that area would have minimal impacts on the floodplain beyond those that currently exist. The proposed hangar facility would be constructed above the base flood level in accordance with the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) FIRM using solid fill.

In response to the requirement for evaluating alternatives to building/mitigating projects in the floodplain (24 CFR 58.40(e), Ref. 40 CFR 1508.9), the alternatives considered included relocating the proposed activity to an alternate site and no action.

Alternate Site Alternative
Alternative site locations were not practicable because the objective of the project is to provide a methanol facility, rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for PBIP, which would be constructed at PBIP on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. PBIP is an industrial port and product facility in Pearllington, Mississippi and serves as an import/export for various industrial products. Approximately 32% of the total area of Kiln is located within the 100-year floodplain, and all of the waterfront areas are in the 100-year floodplain. Adjacent appropriate sites are currently undeveloped and would have a larger impact to the floodplain and other natural resources. Therefore, the alternate site alternative was rejected.

No Action Alternative
The adoption of the No Action alternative is a decision not to provide a methanol facility, rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for the referenced project, thereby languishing the growing need for industrial production and export within PBIP and Hancock County.

Proposed Action Alternative
The objective of the project is to provide construction of a methanol facility, rail line extension, dock installation, and other associated amenities for the PBIP Project, which would be constructed at PBIP on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. This notice is being submitted to the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, Federal Emergency Management Agency, US Army Corps of Engineers, US Environmental Protection Agency and Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality. Members of the public are invited to submit comments on the proposed activity. NOTICE AND PUBLIC EXPLANATION OF A PROPOSED ACTIVITY IN THE 100-YEAR FLOODPLAIN

To: All Interested Agencies, Groups, and Individuals

SUBJECT: Notice of intent to take action within the 100-year floodplain
This document gives notice that the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is proposing to conduct activities within the 100-year floodplain, as identified on Flood Insurance Rate Maps (FIRMs) for Hancock County, to facilitate the Stennis International Airport Assault Landing Strip. The purpose of the proposed activity is to provide construction of a new assault landing strip adjacent to west of Stennis International Airport's current runway. The project site is located at Stennis International Airport in Kiln, Hancock County, Mississippi. It is located approximately 8 miles north west of the city of Bay St. Louis, lies north of H10, south of Texas Flat Road, and West of Hwy 603.

The Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission is requesting the use of U.S. Housing and Urban Development (HUD) Base Realignment and Closure (BRAC) Program, funneled through the Mississippi Development Authority (MDA), to fund construction of an assault landing strip adjacent to west of Stennis International Airport's current runway and other associated amenities for the Stennis International Airport Assault Landing Strip project.

In deciding whether to fund the proposed project, U.S. Department of the Treasury is obligated to follow requirements set forth by Section 2(a)(4) of Executive Order (E.O.) 11988 for Floodplain Management. This Notice of Intent is being provided in fulfillment of E.O. 11988.

The Stennis International Airport Assault Landing Strip site is approximately 195 acres, 83.6 acres all of which are located within the 100-year floodplain (Zone AE) as shown on Flood Insurance Rate Map (FIRM) Community Panels 28045C0239D and 28045C0327D (dated October 16, 2009). Measurements would be taken during construction work to ensure that construction is performed in a manner that minimizes any negative impact to the floodplain.

In response to the requirement for evaluating alternatives to building/mitigating projects in the floodplain (24 CFR 58.40(e), Ref. 40 CFR 1508.9), the alternatives considered included relocating the proposed activity to an alternate site and no action.

Alternate Site Alternative
Alternative site locations were not practicable because the objective of the project is to provide an assault landing strip adjacent to the airport's current runway, which would be constructed at Stennis International Airport on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. Stennis International Airport is a military airport in Kiln, Mississippi and serves as a training facility and international connection for military operations. Approximately 16% of the total area of Kiln is located within the 100-year floodplain, and all of the waterfront areas are in the 100-year floodplain. Currently there is no assault landing strip at Stennis International Airport, and with increased military training operations at Stennis, an assault landing strip is vital to continue these efforts. Therefore, the alternate site alternative was rejected.

No Action Alternative
The adoption of the No Action alternative is a decision not to provide an assault landing strip and other associated amenities for the Stennis International Airport Assault Landing Strip Project, thereby languishing the growing need for military operations at the airport.

Proposed Action Alternative
The objective of the project is to provide construction of an assault landing strip adjacent to the Stennis International Airport Assault Landing Strip Project, which would be constructed at Stennis International Airport on land owned by the Hancock County Port and Harbor Commission. This notice is being submitted to the Mississippi Emergency Management Agency, Federal Emergency Management Agency, US Army Corps of Engineers, US Environmental Protection Agency, and Mississippi Department of Environmental Quality. Members of the public are invited to submit comments on the proposed activity. Additional information on the proposed activity is available to the public between the hours of 8:00 am and 5:00 pm, Monday through Friday at the following location:

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus receives Mississippi Arts Commission Grant

SEA COAST ECHO

The Mississippi Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus has been awarded a $4,400 grant from the Mississippi Arts Commission (MAC). This grant is a portion of the $1.4 million in grants the Commission will award in 2019-2020 and will be used to fund the Messiah Chorus performances during their 68th year on the Gulf Coast. The grants are made possible by continued funding from the Mississippi State Legislature and the National Endowment for the Arts.

"The Mississippi Arts Commission supports arts activities in nearly every corner of the state through grants to art organizations, schools, communities and units of governments," said Malcolm White, executive director of MAC. "The projects and programming these organizations produce with MAC funds helps enrich our state's communities. This funding helps organizations provide arts experiences and educational opportunities to people who may not otherwise have access to the arts."

December 1952 marked the beginning of what has become a musical tradition on the Mississippi Gulf Coast: the annual performances of George F. Handel's oratorio, The Messiah. The Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus singers and soloists are volunteers who love sharing their vocal talents and enjoy singing this demanding music. What began so simply at Keesler Air Force Base 67 years ago continues to be an inspiration to residents and visitors on the Mississippi Coast. The performances are free of charge and are scheduled during the Easter and Christmas seasons at numerous venues along the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The Mississippi Arts Commission, a state agency, serves the residents of the state by providing grants that support programs to enhance communities; assist artists and arts organizations that promote the arts in education and celebrate Mississippi's cultural heritage. Established in 1968, the Mississippi Arts Commission is funded by the Mississippi Legislature, the National Endowment for the Arts, the Mississippi Endowment for the Arts at the Community Foundation of Greater Jackson and other private sources. The agency serves as an active supporter and promoter of arts in community life and in arts education.

For information from the Mississippi Arts Commission, contact Anna Ehr Gott, Communications Director, 601-359-6564 or aehrgott@arts.ms.gov.

Young Artists Vocal Competition 2019

SEA COAST ECHO

The Annual Young Artists Vocal Competition (YAVC) is part of the Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus' ongoing educational program for young people, seeking to stimulate interest in classical music among young singers. We also hope to pass down the tradition of singing Handel's oratorio, Messiah, to succeeding generations. Finally, we wish to encourage exceptionally gifted young singers and help them develop as the vocal leaders of the future.

A panel of judges critique the performances and determine vocal and scholarship winners. The audience at the competition will vote for the "Audience's Favorite Singer."

8th annual YAVC, on Saturday, October 26, 2019, at MGCCC – JD Campus, Gulfport. Vocal winners of the competition will be invited to perform their solos at the Messiah concert, Saturday, December 7, 2019. All scholarship winners will be introduced at the concert.

Donations for the YVAC Scholarship program, established in memory of Dr. Glen Draper, conductor emeritus of the Gulf Coast Messiah Chorus, will be greatly appreciated.

Further details are available on the downloadable registration form (PDF) at Messiahchorus.org. The early registration deadline is September 20, 2019, so now's the time to prepare. Good luck to all!

Please direct all questions to YAVC Co-Chair Donna Snell at (228) 896-4143.
